Dear Mr. Sisco:

The Central Intelligence Agency regularly conducts a Midcareer Executive Development Course for officers who have been selected as most likely to assume positions of senior responsibility in the Agency at some time in the future. We would like to invite you to address the members of the present group on Thursday, 21 October 1965, at 1:00 p.m.

In brief, the Midcareer Executive Development Course is designed to provide the participants with new insights, deeper knowledge, and wider perspective. The thirty officers attending the Course are in grades GS-13 and GS-14 and have had substantial experience with the Central Intelligence Agency. For the latter third of the six weeks' Course the focus is upon trends and developments in world affairs, and it is during this period that your talk would take place. We suggest as a topic, "Major Issues for the United Nations." Your observations on the position of the United States and of other nations with respect to critical UN matters would be of great interest and value to our officers.

The Midcareer Executive Development Course is conducted at 1000 North Glebe Road, Arlington, Virginia. We hope that you can spend about two hours with the Midcareerists, devoting an hour to your address and the balance of the time to a short break followed by a question period. The Course Chairman, [redacted] will contact your office to discuss additional details if your schedule will permit you to accept our invitation.
